

Shaping the Future of Families

The family has long been the focus of Penn State Cooperative Extension.

While Cooperative Extension programs evolve around the needs and issues of the time, the primary goal remains the same—to enhance the economic and personal well-being of citizens through researched-based community and family education.

Penn State College of Agricultural Sciences research, extension, and resident education programs are funded in part by Pennsylvania counties, the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Penn State encourages persons with disabilities to participate in its programs and activities. If you anticipate needing special accommodations or have questions about the physical access provided, please contact Norm Conrad at 570-966-8194 in advance of your participation or visit.

This publication is available in alternative media upon request.

The Pennsylvania State University is committed to the policy that all persons shall have equal access to programs, facilities, admission, and employment without regard to personal characteristics not related to ability, performance, or qualifications as determined by University policy or by state or federal authorities. It is the policy of the University to maintain an academic and work environment free of discrimination, including harassment. The Pennsylvania State University prohibits discrimination and harassment against any person because of age, ancestry, color, disability or handicap, national origin, race, religious creed, sex, sexual orientation, or veteran status. Discrimination or harassment against faculty, staff, or students will not be tolerated at The Pennsylvania State University. Direct all inquiries regarding the nondiscrimination policy to the Affirmative Action Director, The Pennsylvania State University, 328 Boucke Building, University Park, PA 16802-5901; Tel 814-865-4700/V, 814-863-1150/TTY.

FOR PARENTS OF TODDLER to PRE-TEEN CHILDREN

Parenting can be like riding a roller coaster. Some days, it's exciting, fun, and joyful. Other days, you may feel tense and uncertain about your ability to handle the job.

Positive Parenting is for parents of children, pre-school through elementary school. This middle period of your child's development spans a number of wonderful years as you watch your child become increasingly autonomous and competent at mastering the many tasks of being part of your family.

Sessions will include:

- Physical punishment and setting limits;
- Consequences of behavior and the importance of listening;
- Perspectives on anger; strategies and tactics for dealing with challenging behaviors.
